Self Proctoring

Since this is not an actual competition and is for people to study with, I have provided videos linked below for the stations with the correct timing. You will just need to play the video once through the whole test. The 1 second delay ones do not contain a buzzer sound when the time runs out and just switches to the next station. However, the 10 second delay ones will contain a start beep and end buzzer sound. Other than the delay and the sound effects, there are no differences between the two. If you want to have the physical stations, there is a PDF file of the stations. The answer sheet and answer key is a separate file. The sounds are linked below and the numbers of the file match the numbers on the stations. You could use the 10 second delay video for the timing of the physical stations, but just note that the bird sounds will still play.

Feedback can be submitted in the Google Form linked below.
